MESSAGE OF THE PRESIDENT.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I transmit herewith the Ninth Special Report of the Commissioner of Labor, which report relates to the social and economic condition of the Italians in Chicago.

WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

EXECUTIVE MANSION,

Washington, D. C., June 4, 1897.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR,

Washington, D. C., June 4, 1897.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith the Ninth Special Report emanating from this Department. This report deals with the social and economic condition of the Italians in Chicago, and in it will be found valuable material for use in the consideration of the question of immigration. At the time of the Eleventh Census (1890) there were 5,685 persons of Italian birth residing in the city of Chicago. The report now submitted, covering portions of the years 1895 and 1896, shows the social and economic condition of 4,493 persons who were born in Italy, but embraces the facts for 6,773 persons in all, this number including those who were born in Italy and some who were born in this and other countries. The positive representative value of the report is thus seen to be established. The facts were collected entirely by Miss Caroline L. Hunt, in accordance with carefully prepared schedules. The tabulations have been under the charge of Mr. G. Wallace W. Hanger, while Mr. Oren W. Weaver, the chief clerk of the Department, has rendered most valuable services in revising the schedules and shaping the tables for the report. To Mr. Weaver, Mr. Hanger, and Miss Hunt I desire to express my acknowledgments for their services.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

CARROLL D. WRIGHT,

Commissioner.

The PRESIDENT.

ANALYSIS OF TABLES.

CHAPTER I. LIBRARY.

ANALYSIS OF TABLES.

This report is the result of an investigation commenced in April, 1896, by an agent of the Department into the social and economic condition of Italian families residing in the slum districts of Chicago. The questions pertaining to statistics covering a year are for the year preceding the date of the visit by the agent to the respective families. In all, 1,348 families of this character were visited and information secured for the 6,773 persons embraced therein. Of this number 4,493 were born in Italy. According to the United States census of 1890 there were 5,685 persons of Italian birth in the city of Chicago at that time. The limited time and force available for this investigation made it impossible to secure these individual reports from the whole Italian population of Chicago, and, indeed, such an extensive canvass was not deemed necessary. It is believed that the data secured for the 1,348 families visited is entirely representative of the conditions existing in all Italian families of a similar character in that city. The canvass was not confined to any particular portion of the city, but represents families from all sections. The following streets and avenues were canvassed, and each is represented by a number of families in the tables: Armour, Austin, Canal, Carpenter, Clark, De Koven, Desplaines, Erie, Ewing, Fay, Fifth, Forquer, Grand, Green, Halsted, Huron, Illinois, Indiana, Jefferson, Johnson, Kensington, Kenzie, Larabee, La Salle, Law, Lincoln, Market, Morgan, Nineteenth, Ohio, One hundred and sixteenth, Pacific, Page, Peoria, Philip, Polk, Purple, Rockwell, Sangamon, Sebor, Sherman, Sixty-ninth, Taylor, Tilden, Twelfth, Twentieth, Twenty-fifth, Union, Wentworth, Wood.

The general tables which relate to these families and form the basis of the analyses contained in this chapter are twenty in number, and are as follows:

TABLE I.—General social and economic condition, by families and individuals.

TABLE II.—General condition as to literacy and illiteracy, by families and individuals.

TABLE III.—School attendance, by families and individuals.

TABLE IV.—Conjugal condition, by sex, nativity, and age.

TABLE V.—Place of birth, by sex.

TABLE VI.—Number and size of families, by kind of family.

TABLE VII.—Nativity of parents.

TABLE VIII.—Relationship to head of family, by nativity and sex.

TABLE IX.—Foreign-born voters and aliens, by years in the United States.

TABLE X.—Weekly earnings and hours of work, by occupation and sex.

TABLE XI.—Persons unemployed, by months unemployed, sex, and age.

TABLE XII.—Illiterates, by sex, age periods, and degree of illiteracy.

TABLE XIII.—Literates, by sex, age periods, and language.

TABLE XIV.—Literates and illiterates, by sex.

TABLE XV.—School attendance, by nativity, age, kind of school, and sex.

TABLE XVI.—Condition of all children from 5 to 14 years of age, inclusive, by nativity and sex.

TABLE XVII.—Married women having a specified number of Italian-born children living, by number of children born to each in Italy and years of married life in Italy.

TABLE XVIII.—Married women having a specified number of native-born children living, by number of children born to each in the United States and years of married life in the United States.

TABLE XIX.—Married women having a specified number of children living, by number of children born to each and years of married life.

TABLE XX.—Persons sick or physically defective, by kind of ailment or defect and sex.

In the analysis of these tables comparisons have been made with the facts given in the Seventh Special Report of the Commissioner of Labor relating to the slums of great cities. That investigation was conducted along the same general lines as this, and embraced data for the year ending March 31, 1893, for all families, of whatever nationality, living within certain boundaries, which were designed to include the typical slum element of the four cities of Baltimore, Chicago, New York, and Philadelphia.

The first three tables in the above list show facts for individual persons and families, while the remaining tables are almost wholly compiled from them and bring the information given therein into a more concrete form. The analyses follow:

Table I.—General social and economic condition, by families and individuals, pp. 52 to 273.—In this table each family and individual is represented. The families are numbered from 1 to 1,348, inclusive, and a line given to each individual embraced in them. The various columns of the table give, for each individual, information as to the general social and economic condition. Information is first given as to the relationship to the head of the family, whether the head, or the wife, daughter, son, father, etc., of the head. The next column shows the sex of each individual, that being followed by the age in years, or fraction of a year, if less than 1 year old, and by conjugal condition—that is, whether single, married, or widowed. The name of the province where born follows, and the place of birth of the father and mother. The next column shows the years each individual has been in the United States if not born here, and the inquiry as to whether naturalized or not is then answered for each foreign-born male person 21 years of age or over. Following these inquiries, the economic condition is taken up, the next four columns showing the name of the principal profession, trade, or occupation at which each individual worked during the year, together with the hours of work per week, average weekly earnings, and weeks employed at the same during the year. In cases where persons were engaged in some other profession, trade, or occupation during the year, a footnote has been made, showing the name of such profession, trade, or occupation, together with the average weekly earnings and weeks employed at the same. The column showing profession, trade, or occupation is also used to describe the conditions pertaining to persons who, by reason of age, nonemployment, or their relation to the family, are not engaged in a gainful occupation. Persons 9 years of age or under, who have not been employed the whole year and were not at school during the year, have been designated as "at home." Wives engaged at housework have been designated "housewives" and persons having other relationships to the head of the family and employed in housework without pay have been designated as at "housework." Persons who have been at school during any part of the year are set down as "scholars." Persons 10 years of age or over who have been unemployed twelve months and have not been at school during the year are classed as having "no occupation." This designation includes those who are too old to work and those not capable. Persons of all gainful occupations who have retired from business are entered as "retired." The column immediately following those just described relating to occupations and earnings shows the total earnings during the past year of each wage earner, while the last column of the table answers the inquiry, Sick during the year, defective, maimed, or deformed, by giving the name of the ailment, defect, etc.

Each family is taken up in order in this table, the information relating to the head of the family being tabulated on the first line, while the remainder of the family follows, the facts for each individual member being given a line.

Turning to the table, and taking up family numbered 1, it is seen to consist of a male head, 35 years of age; his wife, 28 years of age; a daughter of 5 years, and two sons of 3 years and 3 months respectively. The next columns show that both the head of this family and his wife were born in the province of Calabria, that their parents were also born in that province, that they have been in the United States seven years, and that the head of the family has been naturalized. The three children were born in the United States. The columns following show that the head of the family worked forty-eight weeks during the year as porter in a bakery, his average weekly earnings being $7, and his hours of work per week sixty. Having worked at no other occupation during the year, his earnings for that period were $336. No other member of the family was a wage earner. The wife was occupied with the household duties and the care of the three children, all of whom, as has been seen, were young, and have been classed as "at home." The final column of the table shows that the head of the family suffered from bronchitis at some time during the year, which probably accounts for the four weeks lost from work. A previous column showed the youngest child to have been 3 months old at the time the canvass was made, and the consequent illness of the wife is shown in the last column. The son 3 years of age is shown to have suffered from rickets during the year, while the daughter and younger son were not sick during that period. The other families embraced in this table may be analyzed in a similar manner.

Table II.—General condition as to literacy and illiteracy, by families and individuals, pp. 274 to 351.—In this table individuals under 10 years of age are not included, but the family numbers correspond to those in Table I, and the relationship to the head of the family, sex, and age are given in like order, that a comparison of the facts shown in both tables may be made for each individual.

Table II answers the inquiries as to the ability of all persons in these families 10 years of age or over to read and write their native language and to read, write, and speak the English language. As has been indicated, these questions are not answered for children under 10 years of age. Taking up the table and looking at the data for family numbered 1, which corresponds with family numbered 1 in Tables I and III, we notice that the head of this family is unable to read or write his native language (Italian), and, although he speaks English, is unable either to read or write that language. The wife can both read and write Italian, but can neither read nor write English, although she speaks that language. Both of these persons have been in the United States seven years. The other families follow in numerical order.

Table III.—School attendance, by families and individuals, pp. 352 to 369.—This table embraces all persons from 5 to 17 years of age, inclusive, as well as a few persons below or above these ages reported as scholars, showing for each the months of school attendance during the year and the kind of school. The family numbers are the same as for Tables I and II. In family numbered 1 but one member comes within the age limit, the daughter, 5 years old. It is shown that she did not attend school during the year. In the next family, numbered 2, a daughter 9 years old attended a public school ten months during the year. In family numbered 4, three persons come within the age limit, two sons and a nephew of the head of the family. The son 15 years old attended a public night school three months during the year, and the son 6 years old attended a public school seven months, while the nephew of 7 years did not attend school during the year.

Table IV.—Conjugal condition, by sex, nativity, and age, pp. 369 to 372.—This and the remaining tables of the report are largely in the nature of summaries of the facts already set forth in detail in the three preceding tables. Table IV deals with the conjugal condition of the persons embraced in the investigation, showing the number of single, married, and widowed, by sex, nativity, and age.

The following tables show the substantial facts to be drawn from Table IV:

PERSONS OF EACH CONJUGAL CONDITION, BY SEX AND NATIVITY.

It is here seen that 54.77 per cent of all males and 51.76 per cent of all females were single, and of all persons 53.51 per cent were single. Married males constituted 43.98 per cent of all males, while married females constituted 44.72 per cent of all females. The aggregate of married persons was 44.29 per cent of all persons. A small per cent of all persons were widowed, while it is shown that no divorced persons were found among these people.

The following table, reproduced from the Seventh Special Report of the Commissioner of Labor, shows the number and per cent of persons of each conjugal condition, by sex, found in the canvass of persons of all nationalities living in typical slum sections of the four cities of Baltimore, Chicago, New York, and Philadelphia:

As has been stated, these figures refer to persons of all nationalities, while the figures drawn from Table IV of this report refer to persons of Italian nativity or extraction only, although the environment is very much the same in both cases. A comparison of the figures for these two classes shows a larger per cent of married persons among the families of Italian birth, whether compared with the figures for Chicago or with those for the other cities embraced in the Seventh Special Report. It is seen that of all persons included in the present report 44.29 per cent were married, while of all persons in the Seventh Special Report, Baltimore shows but 38.02 per cent, Chicago but 37.50 per cent, New York but 39.51 per cent, and Philadelphia but 39.06 per cent married.

The following table, taken from the Eleventh Census of the United States (1890), shows the number and per cent of persons of each conjugal condition, by sex, of the total population of Chicago:

NUMBER AND PER CENT OF PERSONS OF EACH CONJUGAL CONDITION, BY SEX, FOR THE CITY OF CHICAGO.

[From the Eleventh Census of the United States.]

Total	568,402	100.00	531,448	100.00	1,099,850	100.00

This table shows that of the entire male population of Chicago at the Eleventh Census 61.54 per cent were single and 36.11 per cent were married, while for the males embraced in the present report a much smaller per cent of single persons and a much larger per cent of married persons were found, the per cent being 54.77 and 43.98, respectively. The same condition was found to exist for the female population. Of the whole female population of Chicago, 55.04 per cent were single and 38.21 per cent were married. Of the persons included in this report, 51.76 per cent of the females were single and 44.72 per cent were married. Taking the total population of Chicago into consideration, the Eleventh Census shows 58.40 per cent single and 37.12 per cent married. Of those included in this report, persons of Italian birth or extraction, but 53.51 per cent were single, while 44.29 per cent were married.

As we have seen by the table on page 15, the Italians covered by the present report show for those born in this country 99.16 per cent of single persons and for those born abroad 30.81 per cent single. A similar disproportion was found to exist in the figures shown in the Seventh Special Report, and was there accounted for by the fact that "foreign-born persons coming to this country are usually married or of marriageable age, while the native born include a great number of children who have necessarily been classed as single." Reference to the table on page 15 shows this very clearly.

The following summary, drawn from Table IV, shows the ages, by periods of years, subdivided by sex and nativity, of the persons embraced in this investigation:

Taking up the total number of persons in these Italian families as shown in the total columns of the preceding table, it is seen that a very large proportion of native-born persons, 56.87 per cent, were under 5 years of age and 29.79 per cent were between 5 and 9 years of age, making 86.66 per cent under 10 years of age. This becomes more noticeable when compared with the following table, showing similar information for the inhabitants of the slum districts embraced in the Seventh Special Report, where the proportion of native-born persons under 5 years of age was but 21.73 per cent in Baltimore, 29.42 per cent in Chicago, 35.80 per cent in New York, and 35.92 per cent in Philadelphia, and the proportion of those from 5 to 9 years of age but 17.72 per cent in Baltimore, 17.30 per cent in Chicago, 20.69 per cent in New York, and 18.08 per cent in Philadelphia. The largest proportion of foreign-born persons in these Italian families, 14.85 per cent, was found between 30 and 34 years of age, 60.87 per cent of all having been between 20 and 44 years of age. Of the slum population embraced in the Seventh Special Report the largest proportion of foreign-born persons was found in each of the cities between 25 and 29 years of age, while the proportion between 20 and 44 years, though not so large as that found in the Italian families embraced in this report, was quite large, amounting to 48.12 per cent in Baltimore, 55 per cent in Chicago, 54.96 per cent in New York, and 51.78 per cent in Philadelphia.

The table from the Seventh Special Report follows:

Table V.—Place of birth, by sex, p. 372.—This table shows the province or country where born for all persons embraced in the investigation. A very few of the foreign-born persons (less than one-half of 1 per cent) found in these families were of other than Italian origin. According to the Eleventh Census of the United States, there were 5,685 persons of Italian birth in the city of Chicago. As many as 4,493 persons of Italian birth were found in the families embraced in this report; 2,249 were born in the United States, while 31 were born in other countries. Of the 66.33 per cent of persons of both sexes born in Italy, the largest proportion, 18.28 per cent, were born in the province of Campania. Basilicata follows with 17.78 per cent, Calabria with 12.68 per cent, Sicily with 7.83 per cent, Abruzzo with 5.18 per cent, etc. Those born in the United States, mainly children, constituted 33.20 per cent of all persons found in these families.

Table VI.—Number and size of families, by kind of family, p. 372.—Three classes or kinds of families were found in gathering the data which form the basis of this report, viz, private families, cooperative families, and boarding and lodging houses. Every group of individuals living under one roof and bearing some relation to one head, whether of kin or not, has, according to the usual custom, been termed a family. In addition to the private or normal family, in which all or most of its members are related by ties of blood, and the boarding and lodging house, there has been found, among these Italians, the cooperative family. The cooperative family is composed of a number of persons, usually males, living together and sharing the household expenses. Very frequently they do their own cooking and housework. Table VI shows the number and per cent of families of each size, from one to eighteen persons, subdivided as to the kind of family, as described above. Reference to the table shows that of the 1,348 families investigated, 1,265, or 93.84 per cent, were private, 68, or 5.05 per cent, were cooperative, and 15, or 1.11 per cent, were boarding and lodging houses. Taking into consideration all families of whatever kind, it was found that those consisting of 4 persons predominated, embracing 20.55 per cent of all families; those of 5 persons follow, embracing 19.51 per cent, while those of 6 persons embraced 13.43 per cent, and those of 3 persons, 12.02 per cent.

The average size of all families in the present report is 5.02 persons. In the Seventh Special Report, in which slum families of various nationalities were included, the average size of the family was, in Baltimore, 4.48 persons; in Chicago, 5.09 persons; in New York, 4.90 persons, and in Philadelphia, 5.15 persons. The average size of all families in Chicago, according to the Eleventh Census of the United States, was 4.99 persons. The figures for the Italian families included in the present report do not, then, differ materially in respect to size of family from what has been shown in the Seventh Special Report and in the Eleventh Census.

Table VII.—Nativity of parents, p. 373.—This table classifies the native-born and foreign-born persons included in this investigation according to parent nativity, with specified place of birth. The following table, showing the number and per cent of persons of each parent nativity, brings the figures into more convenient form for comparison:

In Table V, showing the place of birth of persons included in the investigation, it was seen that the largest proportion were born in Campania, that province being followed by Basilicata, Calabria, Sicily, Abruzzo, etc. In this table, giving the birthplace of the parents of those shown in Table V, it is seen that Campania also shows the largest proportion, 28.29 per cent, and is followed by Basilicata with 28.20 per cent, Calabria with 15.64 per cent, Sicily with 10.97 per cent, Abruzzo with 7.12 per cent, etc..

Table VIII.—Relationship to head of family, by nativity and sex, p. 374.—Native-born persons, foreign-born persons, and native and foreign born persons combined are in this table classified according to their relationship to the head of the family in which they reside, and further classified by sex. It is seen from the table that of the native-born persons living in these Italian families 95.02 per cent were children of the heads of their respective families. This is accounted for in the same manner as the disproportion existing between the number of native and foreign born single and married persons in the analysis to Table IV. It was stated there that foreign-born persons coming to this country are usually married or of marriageable age, while the native born include a great number of children. Native-born heads of families and their wives constituted less than 1 per cent of all native-born persons living in these families. Of foreign-born persons, however, 54.07 per cent were heads of families and their wives, while sons and daughters of the head constituted but 20.07 per cent of all foreign born. Taking the third division of the table, which combines the facts for both native and foreign born persons, heads of families and their wives constituted 36.35 per cent of all persons, their sons and daughters 44.96 per cent, the remainder being fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, uncles and aunts, nephews and nieces, cousins, boarders, lodgers, persons belonging to cooperative families, etc.

Table IX.—Foreign-born voters and aliens, by years in the United States, p. 375.—This table classifies all foreign-born males 21 years of age or over embraced in these families as voters or as aliens, and gives the number of years they have been in the United States. All males of foreign birth 21 years of age or over, not naturalized, have been considered aliens. A residence of five years in the United States is necessary for a person to become a voter in the State of Illinois. Of the foreign-born males 21 years of age or over who had been in the United States five years, 45 per cent were voters. Of those who had been in the United States a greater number of years, the proportion of voters was considerably larger, and taking into consideration all persons included in the table, 53.81 per cent were voters and 46.19 per cent were aliens. According to the Eleventh Census of the United States, 31.27 per cent of all foreign-born males 21 years of age or over in Chicago were aliens. The considerably larger proportion of aliens among the Italians embraced in this investigation, 46.19 per cent, shows that persons of this class to quite a large extent have not taken advantage of the privilege of becoming naturalized citizens of this country. An even larger proportion, 52.51 per cent, of the foreign-born persons 21 years of age or over included in the Seventh Special Report were classed as aliens in Chicago.

Of the 1,012 aliens included in these Italian families a partial report was secured as to whether naturalization papers had been taken out. Of a total of 939 persons reporting as to this fact, 132, or 14.06 per cent, reported that they had taken out such papers preliminary to becoming citizens of the United States, while 807, or 85.94 per cent, reported that they had not taken out naturalization papers.

Table X.—Weekly earnings and hours of work, by occupation and sex, pp. 376 to 380.—This table shows the various occupations engaged in by the persons composing the Italian families canvassed, arranged under the following general industry heads: Agriculture, fisheries, and mining; professional; domestic and personal service; trade and transportation; manufactures and mechanical industries; nonproductive; housewives and at work, and scholars and at work. The number and sex of persons working at each occupation are shown, together with their average hours of work per week and their highest, lowest, and average weekly earnings while employed. It is unfortunate that the information as to working hours and earnings were so often impossible to secure, and are, consequently, not reported in the table. It is believed, however, that the data given on these points are representative and afford a very fair idea of the conditions that exist. It is interesting to note the occupations most frequently followed by the persons composing these families: Under the general industry heading of agriculture, fisheries, and mining, 28 worked as quarrymen; under professional, musicians and organ grinders numbered 62; under domestic and personal service were found 797 laborers, 126 street sweepers, 73 bootblacks, 45 barbers, 32 sewer diggers, 23 pavers, 22 saloon keepers, and 18 scissors grinders; under trade and transportation, 186 worked as rag and paper pickers, sorters, etc., 154 as small peddlers, 119 as railroad laborers, 78 as newsboys, news dealers, etc., 32 as small merchants or dealers in various lines, 20 as salesmen, 15 as teamsters, and 14 as wood pickers; under manufactures were found 60 hod carriers, 38 candy makers and candy factory employees, 26 pants makers and finishers, 22 mosaic layers, 19 tailors and tailoresses, 16 shoemakers, and 14 tinkers; under the head of nonproductive (by far the largest), 1,689 were classed as at home, which in this table means all persons 9 years of age or under who were not at school and unemployed during the year; 1,044 were housewives and 113 were engaged in housework without pay; 361 were classed as having no occupation, and include those 10 years of age or over who were unemployed twelve months and who were not at school during the year, and 876 were scholars. Under the division of housewives and at work, which includes those performing their household duties and, in addition, engaging in work for pay, were found 188 persons; the occupations most common to them were the making and finishing of pants and other garments, dressmaking, washing, and wood, coal, and rag picking. Under the division of scholars and at work were 112 persons who, in addition to attendance at school, were engaged in selling papers, blacking shoes, peddling, etc. It is seen that the occupations in which these persons were engaged are generally those requiring but a low grade of intelligence and little skill or muscular strength.

The following table, drawn from Table X, shows the number and per cent of persons of each industrial group:

According to this table, the nonproductive class included 60.68 per cent of all the persons in the families canvassed. Less than 1 per cent of all were engaged in agriculture, fisheries, and mining or in professional work. Those engaged in domestic and personal service constituted 17.78 per cent of all, those engaged in trade and transportation 10.14 per cent, those engaged in manufactures and mechanical industries 5.52 per cent, while those who were engaged in some work in addition to their household duties constituted 2.78 per cent, and those engaged in some work besides going to school, 1.65 per cent.

This table also shows the distribution of the sexes under each industrial group. The small proportion of women at work at gainful occupations is quite noticeable. In the largest group, domestic and personal service, less than 1 per cent were females; in the next largest group, trade and transportation, but 4.66 per cent of all embraced under that head were females, and in manufactures and mechanical industries, 18.18 per cent were females.

The following table, taken from the Seventh Special Report of the Commissioner of Labor, relating to the population of typical slum sections of four cities, is reproduced for comparison with the immediately preceding table relating to the Italian families embraced in the present report:

A comparison of these two classes of slum residents shows a uniformly smaller proportion of women at work among the families of Italian origin embraced in this report. As regards the distribution of these two classes among the various industrial groups, it is noticed that from 11.26 per cent to 14.29 per cent of the persons embraced in the Seventh Special Report were employed in domestic and personal service, the largest per cent, 14.29, being for Chicago, while 17.78 per cent of the persons included in the present report were employed under this industrial group. The proportions engaged in trade and transportation do not differ greatly, but while the Seventh Special Report shows 16.52 per cent engaged in manufactures and mechanical industries in Baltimore, 14.69 per cent in Chicago, 15.04 per cent in New York, and 17.27 per cent in Philadelphia, but 5.52 per cent of the persons in these Italian families fall in this group. The proportion of nonproductive persons is seen to be uniformly smaller for the persons embraced in the Seventh Special Report.

The following two summaries, taken from Table X, show for each industrial class the average weekly earnings and average hours of work per week of persons engaged in remunerative occupations. As Table X shows, a large number of persons engaged in productive or remunerative occupations did not report earnings or hours of work. The following summaries, of course, deal only with those who reported. Out of a total of 2,663 persons engaged in remunerative occupations, 2,420, or 90.87 per cent, reported as to earnings and 1,820, or 68.34 per cent, reported as to hours of work:

It is seen that the highest earnings, $7.64½ per week, were made by those engaged in agriculture, fisheries, and mining, although but 32 persons reported under this class. In manufactures and mechanical industries, with 361 persons reporting, the average earnings were $7.33 per week; in domestic and personal service, with 1,123 persons reporting, they were $7.23½ per week. The average earnings for the 2,420 persons reporting in all industrial groups were $5.93½ per week. The average hours of work in the seven groups are shown to have varied from 50.4 to 62.1 per week, the average for all groups being 59 hours per week.

The following summaries, taken from the Seventh Special Report, relating to typical slum sections of Baltimore, Chicago, New York, and Philadelphia, and showing information similar to that given in the two summaries immediately preceding, enable us to institute a comparison as to earnings and hours of work between the Italian families just mentioned and slum residents of various nationalities:

The very considerably smaller earnings of the persons belonging to the Italian families dealt with in the present report is noticed. Their average earnings for all the classes of work engaged in, as has been shown, were $5.93½ per week. For the general slum population shown in the tables just given the average weekly earnings for the group were, in Baltimore, $8.65½; in Chicago, $9.88½; in New York, $8.36, and in Philadelphia, $8.68. This difference is doubtless due to the fact that the persons embraced in these exclusively Italian families, as has been previously shown, were employed as a rule at occupations of the lowest grade, requiring no skill and but little manual dexterity or strength. The average hours of work per week were shorter for the members of these Italian families than for the general slum population.

Table XI.—Persons unemployed, by months unemployed, sex, and age, pp. 381, 382.—This table includes all persons 15 years of age or over engaged in remunerative occupations who reported that they were unemployed during any part of the year, and shows for each sex and age the months unemployed. It is proper to state that 90 males and 42 females, making a total of 132 persons, did not report whether employed or not, and have consequently been omitted from this table. In the previous table and the analysis, it was shown that of a total of 6,773 persons embraced in this investigation, 4,110, or 60.68 per cent, were not engaged in any remunerative or productive occupation. These persons were classed as nonproductive, and consisted of those too young to work, those who were unemployed during the whole year, housewives and persons engaged in housework without pay, those who had no occupation, retired persons, and scholars. In this table those who were unemployed fractional parts of months during the year have been classed under the nearest whole month, while those employed less than half a month have been excluded. Of the 2,663 persons employed in remunerative occupations, 1,517, or 56.97 per cent, were unemployed some part of the year. Of this number, 40 were unemployed one month, 56 two months, 49 three months, 66 four months, 102 five months, 250 six months, 183 seven months, 232 eight months, 310 nine months, 161 ten months, and 68 eleven months during the year. The average time unemployed for these 1,517 persons was, therefore, over seven months.

The following table, reproduced from the Seventh Special Report of the Commissioner of Labor, shows the results of the investigation of typical slum sections of Baltimore, Chicago, New York, and Philadelphia so far as it relates to nonemployment. The figures are for the year ending March 31, 1893:

PERSONS UNEMPLOYED AND AVERAGE MONTHS UNEMPLOYED IN CERTAIN SLUM DISTRICTS OF BALTIMORE, CHICAGO, NEW YORK, AND PHILADELPHIA.

a Not including those for whom the months unemployed were not reported.

It is seen from this table that of the total persons included in that investigation, both productive and nonproductive, 8.67 per cent in Baltimore were unemployed some part of the year, 15.88 per cent in Chicago, 9.02 per cent in New York, and 15.19 per cent in Philadelphia. Of the total persons in the Italian families included in the present report the very large proportion of 22.40 per cent were unemployed some part of the year. The average time unemployed of those who were shown to have been unemployed in the Seventh Special Report was 3.6 months in Baltimore, 3.1 months in Chicago and New York, and 2.9 months in Philadelphia. The present investigation shows that the average time of nonemployment of the unemployed in the Italian families was 7.2 months, or double the highest average of the unemployed slum population shown in the Seventh Special Report.

As has been stated, 1,517 persons engaged in productive occupations in these Italian families were unemployed during some portion of the year. The question as to the means of subsistence when unemployed was answered by 1,486 of these persons. It was stated by 717, or 48.25 per cent, that they lived on their savings while unemployed; 287, or 19.31 per cent, had credit and went into debt for the means of subsistence; 233, or 15.68 per cent, lived on their savings until they had exhausted them and then resorted to credit; 96, or 6.46 per cent, lived wholly on charity while unemployed; 26, or 1.75 per cent, lived on their children's earnings, while 127, or 8.55 per cent, subsisted in various ways, the most common being stated as on savings and charity, relatives' support, credit and charity, rents, wife's earnings, savings and wife's earnings, etc.

Table XII.—Illiterates, by sex, age periods, and degree of illiteracy, p. 383.—This table includes all illiterate persons 10 years of age or over embraced in the investigation. Those who can neither read nor write and those who can read but can not write, the two classes of illiterates, are shown by sex and nativity for each specified age period. The great majority of native-born persons in these families, as has been shown, were children under 10 years of age, and therefore do not appear in this table. Of the 2,752 illiterate persons found in these families, but 32 were native born, and of these 30 were under 21 years of age. Dealing with persons, therefore, almost entirely foreign born, no comparison of native and foreign born illiterate persons is possible or desirable.

As regards the degree of illiteracy, it is seen that 2,684, or 97.53 per cent, of the 2,752 illiterate persons could neither read nor write, while 68, or 2.47 per cent, could read but could not write any language. Similar data for the persons embraced in the Seventh Special Report are shown in the following table:

Of a total of 2,752 illiterate persons embraced in the present report, 1,373, or 49.89 per cent, were from 31 to 50 years of age; 748, or 27.18 per cent, were from 21 to 30 years; 342, or 12.43 per cent, were from 10 to 20 years; 278, or 10.10 per cent, were 51 years of age or over, while 11, or 0.40 per cent, did not report as to age.

The following table, taken from the Seventh Special Report, shows the distribution as to age of the residents of the typical slum sections embraced in that report:

Table XIII.—Literates, by sex, age periods, and language, p. 383.—This table deals with the literate persons 10 years of age or over embraced in the families included in this report. The number of male and female native and foreign born persons falling under each age period is shown and further classified as to whether they read and write the English language only, Italian only, or both English and Italian. Of the native-born literates, 265 could read and write English only and 3 could read and write Italian only. No native-born persons in these families were found who could read and write both English and Italian. Of the 1,533 foreign-born literates, 221 could read and write English only, showing that the ability to read and write was probably acquired after their arrival in this country; 984 could read and write Italian only, while 328 were able to read and write both English and Italian.

Table XIV.—Literates and illiterates, by sex, p. 383.—This table brings into comparison the information given in the two previous tables relating to illiterates and literates. It is shown that of the 2,812 males 10 years of age or over included in this report, 48.04 per cent were literate and 51.96 per cent were illiterate. Of the 1,741 females 10 years of age or over, 25.85 per cent were literate and 74.15 per cent were illiterate. Comparing the literate males and females, it is seen that 19.32 per cent of the literate males could read and write English only, while 50 per cent of the literate females were in this class; 60.55 per cent of the males and 37.56 per cent of the females could read and write Italian only, and 20.13 per cent of the males and 12.44 per cent of the females were able to read and write both English and Italian. Taking into consideration persons of both sexes, it is seen that of a total of 4,553 persons 10 years of age or over 2,752, or 60.44 per cent, were illiterate, while 1,801, or 39.56 per cent, were literate. The proportion of illiterate persons (60.44 per cent) is thus seen to be very high in the families included in this investigation. It is shown in Table XII that but 32 of the 2,752 illiterates were native born, a proportion too small to be considered. A comparison as to illiteracy is, therefore, possible between these Italian families and the foreign-born population of the typical slum sections of Baltimore, Chicago, New York, and Philadelphia, as presented in the Seventh Special Report of the Commissioner of Labor. The following table, drawn from that report, shows the per cent of literates and illiterates of each foreign nationality as given there:

This table shows that those of Italian birth were to an even larger extent illiterate in the families included in the Seventh Special Report than is shown by the present report, and that in each of the four cities, with the exception of Baltimore, the proportion of illiterates among persons of that nationality was greater than among those of any other country.

Taking up again Table XIV, and considering the literates only, it is seen that 26.99 per cent of all the literates could read and write English only; 54.80 per cent could read and write Italian only, while 18.21 per cent were able to read and write both English and Italian.

The following table, showing the number and per cent of persons able and not able to speak English, by years in the United States, while not bearing directly on illiteracy, is thought to be of interest in this connection:

Of native-born persons, practically all were able to speak English. Of the total foreign-born persons, 58.62 per cent were able to speak English, while 41.38 per cent were unable to do so. Of all the persons in these families 10 years of age or over, both native and foreign born, 61.30 per cent were able to speak English, while 38.70 per cent were not able to do so. The proportion of persons able and not able to speak English who have been in the United States each specified number of years is shown in the table. The proportion able to speak English of those who have been in the United States less than one year is shown to be but 1.80 per cent. This proportion gradually increases as the years of residence in the United States increase, until 73.14 per cent of those who had been in the United States ten years or over were able to speak the English language with reasonable clearness.

Table XV.—School attendance, by nativity, age, kind of school, and sex, p. 384.—This table shows the native and foreign born males and females of each age attending public and private schools. Of a total of 988 persons in these families who attended school during some portion of the year, 582, or 58.91 per cent, were native born, and 406, or 41.09 per cent, were foreign born. No comparison as to the proportion of native and foreign born persons attending school can be made between these families and those embraced in the Seventh Special Report, owing to the fact that these families are exclusively Italian or of foreign extraction, while those embraced in the Seventh Special Report are to a large extent native, and would naturally show a larger proportion of native-born persons at school.

The largest proportion of scholars were 7 years of age, the per cent for males being 15.94, for females, 15.35, and for both males and females, 15.69. Over one-half of all scholars were from 7 to 10 years of age, inclusive, the proportion being 52.54 per cent of males, 56.60 per cent of females, and 54.26 per cent of both males and females.

The following table, taken from the Seventh Special Report and embracing the scholars in families residing in typical slum sections of Baltimore, Chicago, New York, and Philadelphia, shows the number and per cent of scholars classified according to age periods:

A similar classification of the scholars included in the present report shows that 3, or 0.30 per cent, were under 5 years of age; 527, or 53.35 per cent, were from 5 to 9 years; 331, or 33.50 per cent, were from 10 to 13 years; 121, or 12.25 per cent, were from 14 to 19 years; while 6, or 0.60 per cent, were 20 years of age or over.

The following table classifies the scholars in these Italian families according to the kind of school which they attended, whether public or private:

NUMBER AND PER CENT OF SCHOLARS ATTENDING PUBLIC AND PRIVATE SCHOOLS.

Total	571	100.00	417	100.00	988	100.00

Of all male scholars 88.09 per cent attended public schools; of all female scholars 91.61 per cent attended public schools, while the proportion of all scholars of both sexes attending public schools was 89.57 per cent. In Table XV and the summaries drawn therefrom the term private school has been made to include schools variously designated as parochial schools, kindergartens, Italian private schools, and private night schools as well as those termed simply private schools. Table III of the general tables in this report shows in detail the specific kind of schools attended by the scholars in each of these Italian families.

The following table, taken from the Seventh Special Report, shows the distribution of the scholars included in that report, by kind of school:

Total	2,629	100.00	2,811	100.00	4,340	100.00	2,615	100.00

This table shows that but 64.78 per cent of the scholars in the typical slum families of Baltimore attended public schools and 35.22 per cent private schools; in Chicago 77.59 per cent attended public and 22.41 per cent private schools; in New York 63.20 per cent attended public and 36.80 per cent private schools, and in Philadelphia 85.70 per cent attended public and 14.30 per cent private schools. As has been shown, 89.57 per cent of the scholars included in the present report attended public while but 10.43 per cent attended private schools.

Average number of months in school.....	8.82		8.81		8.81

The first section of this table deals with those attending public schools, the second section with those attending private schools, while the third combines the data for both public and private schools. Of those attending public schools 72.54 per cent were in school ten months, the full school year, the average months in school of all attending public schools being 8.79. Of those attending private schools 76.70 per cent were in school ten months, the average months in school of all attending private schools being 9.04. Taking into consideration the data for both public and private schools, it is seen that 72.97 per cent were in school ten months during the year, the average months of school attendance for all scholars being 8.81.

These figures show very interesting results, taken in connection with Table XVI and its summary, which latter gives the per cent of persons from 5 to 14 years of age at home, at work, at school, and both at work and at school.

Table XVI.—Condition of all children from 5 to 14 years of age, inclusive, by nativity and sex, p. 385.—This table deals with the condition of all children from 5 to 14 years of age, inclusive, showing the number of males and females of each age and nativity who are at home, at work, at school, and both at work and at school. The following table, drawn from Table XVI, shows the number and per cent of each condition, by sex:

Of the males from 5 to 14 years of age, 26.29 per cent were at home. This designation includes all persons 5 to 14 years of age, inclusive, who were not at school during the year and who had no occupation. Of the females, a larger proportion, 38.38 per cent, were at home. The greatest proportion of children, however, of both sexes were at school; the per cent of males at school being 59.44 and of females 55.81. Of the males, 6.87 per cent were at work and 7.40 per cent both at work and at school, while of the females, 4.82 per cent were at work and 0.99 per cent both at work and at school. Taking up the totals for both males and females, it is seen that of the 1,463 children from 5 to 14 years of age, inclusive, in these Italian families, 844, or 57.69 per cent, were at school during some part of the year; 470, or 32.12 per cent, were at home during the year; 86, or 5.88 per cent, were at work during the whole or some part of the year, while 63, or 4.31 per cent, were both at work and at school.

The following summary, drawn from the Seventh Special Report, relating to the slums of large cities, shows similar figures for the children from 5 to 14 years of age in families residing in typical slum sections of Baltimore, Chicago, New York, and Philadelphia.

As just stated, 57.69 per cent of the children in the Italian families included in this report were at school during some part of the year. The table given above for the children in typical slum families shows the proportion of children at school was much larger, being 63.87 per cent in Baltimore, 64.87 per cent in Chicago, 73.30 per cent in New York, and 71.13 per cent in Philadelphia. The proportion of children at home in the typical slum families was, on the contrary, universally smaller than in these Italian families. In the latter 32.12 per cent were classed as at home; in the former 30.41 per cent were at home in Baltimore, 28.03 per cent in Chicago, 18.28 per cent in New York, and 19.92 per cent in Philadelphia. The proportion of children at work in typical slum families was 5.62 per cent in Baltimore, 4.91 per cent in Chicago, 7.45 per cent in New York, and 8.23 per cent in Philadelphia, while in the Italian families included in the present report it was 5.88 per cent. The proportion of children who were both at work and at school during some part of the year was greater in the Italian families.

Table XVII.—Married women having a specified number of Italian-born children living, by number of children born to each in Italy and years of married life in Italy, pp. 386 to 391.—This table is the first of a series of three tables relating to married women and their children. As the title indicates, this table deals with conditions in Italy, showing the number of children born in Italy and living, by years of married life in Italy.

Table XVIII.—Married women having a specified number of native-born children living, by number of children born to each in the United States and years of married life in the United States, pp. 392 to 395.—This table, the second relating to married women, etc., deals with conditions in the United States, showing facts similar to those given in the preceding table for Italy.

Table XIX.—Married women having a specified number of children living, by number of children born to each and years of married life, pp. 396 to 401.—In this table the facts are shown for married women, children born and living, and years of married life, regardless of locality.

The following table, drawn from Table XIX, shows the number and per cent of married women who have had no children and who have had children of total married women, by years married:

Of the 1,371 women embraced in this table, including widowed as well as married women, 122, or 8.90 per cent, have had no children, while 1,249, or 91.10 per cent, have had children. Similar ratios are given for those married each specified number of years. It will be seen that it is stated in this and the following summary that no women who have been married under 1 year have had children. That it was so reported is probably due to the fact that some of those women who have been married less than but nearly one year reported themselves as married 1 year and have been so tabulated.

In the table immediately following is shown the number and per cent of married women who have had no children, by number of years married. A similar distribution according to years married is shown for married women who have had children and for total married women:

Of the married women who have had no children 25.41 per cent were married less than one year, 17.21 per cent were married one year, 7.37 per cent were married two years, etc. Of the married women who have had children 0.72 per cent were married one year, 2.80 per cent two years, 4 per cent three years, 4.41 per cent four years, etc.

The following table summarizes the results of Tables XVII, XVIII, and XIX, showing the number and per cent of married women who bore each specified number of children during their married life in Italy, in the United States, and in both countries. Looking at the table it will be seen that 96 married women bore no children during their married life in Italy, 331 none during their married life in the United States, and 122 none during their married life in both countries. This last number, it will be noted, is not the sum of those who bore no children in Italy and those who bore none in the United States, as many women who had no children in one country had children in the other. The figures for one child, two children, etc., should be read in like manner.

Of the 877 married women who spent a portion of their married life in Italy, 10.95 per cent had no children born in Italy, 19.96 per cent had one child, 17.67 per cent had two children, 13.34 per cent had three children, 10.61 per cent had four children, etc. Of the 1,345 married women who spent the whole or a portion of their married life in the United States, 24.61 per cent had no children born in the United States, 12.94 per cent had one child, 17.55 per cent had two children, 13.46 per cent had three children, 10.71 per cent had four children, etc. Considering the number of children born either in Italy or the United States, of the 1,371 married women embraced in the table, 7.88 per cent had one child, 10.80 per cent had two children, 12.11 per cent had three children, 12.11 per cent had four children, 11.74 per cent had five children, etc.

So far as conditions in Italy were concerned, 799 married women who had spent a portion of their married life in Italy before coming to the United States showed an aggregate of 8,455 years of married life spent there. During this time there were born to them 2,505 children. It is thus seen that while in Italy a child was born to each of these married women every 3.38 years. The conditions in the United States show that 1,280 married women who had spent the whole or a portion of their married life in the United States aggregated 8,997 years of married life in the United States and had borne during that time 3,329 children—that is, while in the United States a child was born to each of these married women every 2.70 years. Taking into consideration the results for both Italy and the United States, 1,296 married women in these families aggregated 17,466 years married and had 5,860 children, a child for every 2.98 years of married life. These figures necessarily include only those married women who reported both years married and children born.

Table XX.—Persons sick or physically defective, by kind of ailment or defect and sex, pp. 402, 403.—This table shows the various ailments and defective physical conditions from which the members of these Italian families suffered during the year. Out of a total of 6,773 persons 1,448, or 21.38 per cent, were reported as sick during the year or physically defective. Excluding childbirth from consideration, the number of persons otherwise sick and physically defective was 1,185, or 17.50 per cent; excluding childbirth, the proportions for the four cities canvassed in the slum investigation were 1.85 per cent for Baltimore, 3.90 per cent for Chicago, 2.35 per cent for New York, and 2.03 per cent for Philadelphia. The exceedingly small proportion of sick and physically defective persons found among the general slum population embraced in the Seventh Special Report was noticeable, the highest being 3.90 per cent for Chicago. In the present investigation the proportion of sick and defective, excluding childbirth, as has been shown, reached 17.50 per cent.

Referring to the table and noting the specific diseases or ailments, it is seen that of the 1,448 persons reported as sick or defective during the year, 301, or 20.79 per cent, of these persons suffered from childbirth, or childbirth and some other ailment; 203, or 14.02 per cent, suffered from fevers, malarial, typhoid, etc., or fever and some other ailment; 112, or 7.73 per cent, suffered from rickets, or rickets and some other ailment; 114, or 7.87 per cent, suffered from bronchitis, or bronchitis and some other ailment, while 100, or 6.91 per cent, suffered from rheumatism, or rheumatism and some other ailment. Over one-half (55.52 per cent) of all persons reporting ailments or defects suffered during the year from childbirth, fevers, rickets, bronchitis, and rheumatism. Going further and taking up the other ailments most frequently reported, 80, or 5.52 per cent of all ailing and defective persons, suffered from accidental injuries, etc.; 73, or 5.04 per cent, suffered from female complaint, etc.; 42, or 2.90 per cent, from pneumonia, etc.; 41, or 2.83 per cent, from measles, etc.; 28, or 1.93 per cent, from diphtheria; 26, or 1.80 per cent, from inflammation of the eyes; 23, or 1.59 per cent, from dyspepsia, etc.; 19, or 1.31 per cent, from consumption, etc.; 18, or 1.24 per cent, from miscarriage, etc., while the proportion of those suffering from any other ailment or defect ranged from 1.24 to 0.07 per cent.

DOMESTIC CONDITIONS, COST OF FOOD, ETC.

In connection with this investigation partial reports were secured from the families and individuals involved relating to their domestic conditions; their customs in the United States and in Italy as regards baking bread, spinning, sewing, knitting, etc.; their food and the cost of the same, and the padrone system, the commissions paid padrones, and the prices of food bought from padrones as compared with market prices, etc. These points are taken up and such data given as were secured.

BAKING, SPINNING, SEWING, ETC., IN ITALY AND IN THE UNITED STATES.

In answer to the inquiry, Do you bake your bread in this country? out of 965 families reporting 675, or 69.95 per cent, stated that they baked their bread, the remainder buying bread. The number of families answering the inquiry, Did you bake your bread in Italy? was 851. Of this number 777, or 91.30 per cent, answered in the affirmative, as against 69.95 per cent just shown as baking their bread in the United States.

In answer to the inquiry, Do you spin in this country? out of 895 families reporting only 7, or less than 1 per cent, answered in the affirmative, while in answer to the inquiry, Did you spin in Italy? out of 834 families reporting 636, or 76.26 per cent, answered in the affirmative.

In answer to the inquiry, Do you sew in this country? 770, or 86.32 per cent, of the 892 families reporting answered in the affirmative; of the 848 families answering the inquiry, Did you sew in Italy? 779, or 91.86 per cent, answered in the affirmative. Of those families reporting as to whether or not they did sewing in this country, 892 in number, the additional question, Do you sew for a boss? was asked, and an affirmative answer given in 88 cases.

In answer to the inquiry, Do you knit stockings in this country? 156, or 17.73 per cent, of the 880 families reporting answered in the affirmative, while of the 842 families reporting as to whether or not they knitted stockings in Italy 721, or 85.63 per cent, answered in the affirmative.

Of 849 families reporting, 633, or 74.56 per cent, stated they worked in the fields in Italy. In answer to the inquiry, Did you use kerosene lamps in Italy? 846 families reported, 571, or 67.49 per cent, of which answered in the affirmative. Of the 850 families reporting, but 27, or 3.18 per cent, had stoves in Italy. Coal is almost universally reported as the fuel used for cooking in this country, 969, or 98.48 per cent, out of a total of 984 families using that kind of fuel, the remaining 15 families, with the exception of one which used wood and one which used coke, using coal in connection with some other fuel.

In these families 305 persons were found who reported that they had sent money to bring relatives from Italy. The aggregate amount involved was $19,384.75, or an average of $63.56 for each of the 305 persons reporting.

But 9 persons reported that they had invested in land in Italy. The total amount was $2,440, or an average of $271.11 per individual. Seventy-six persons reported that they had invested in land in the United States. The aggregate amount of their investments was $260,665, or an average of $3,429.80 per individual.

Of the 271 male members of these families who were found to have visited Italy since their arrival in this country, 245 had returned to Italy once, 16 had returned twice, 8 had returned three times, 1 had returned four times, and 1 had returned five times. Of the 39 females who had visited Italy, 32 had returned to Italy once, 1 had returned twice, 5 had returned three times, and 1 had returned five times.

FOOD.

The following general report from the agent of the Department who canvassed these families and secured the data which form the basis of the tables included in this report relates to the food of these people and embodies the result of careful inquiry on this subject:

Three facts led to this inquiry concerning the food of the Italian working people:

1. Italians are considered fitted for the lighter kinds of manual labor only. In Chicago they are thought best fitted for street sweeping and not strong enough for work in the waterworks extension department and for sewer digging.

2. It is difficult to persuade an Italian to go to a hospital. He says he starves in places where the food is known to be abundant and well prepared. His absence from work is thus protracted by the unscientific care which he receives at home, and if he is suffering from a contagious disease his reluctance often leads to concealment which imperils other lives.

3. Rickets, a disease due to malnutrition, is exceedingly prevalent among the children of Italian working people.

Considering the large number of causes which may have resulted in this state of things—hereditary weakness, unhealthful housing, and utter ignorance of all the laws of hygiene—it would be presumptuous to attribute all these facts to the quality of food used. Indeed, one great cause of the antipathy to hospitals is probably ignorance of the English language. It may not, however, be entirely profitless to look to the food as one of the possible causes. Possibly the errors of diet common among Italian workmen are just as common among workmen of other nationalities. Investigations show that the Russian Jews and Bohemians market more judiciously and cook their food more wisely than do the Italians. It may be for this reason—probably for this and other reasons—that the workmen of these nationalities are in better physical condition than are the Italians.

It must be borne in mind that the following statements are true only of Italians of the poorer class—not of the richer classes nor of the very poorest class. The food of the last named is obtained to a large extent from garbage boxes. Reference here is made to the laborer who works for $1.25 per day and to the fruit peddler or organ grinder with an income of about the same amount.

As is the case with the poor of other nationalities in this country, there is probably no fault to be found with the food from a purely quantitative standpoint. It is probable that there are exceedingly few Italian persons in the city of Chicago who do not spend enough money upon their food to buy sufficient nutriment to keep their bodies in good condition, providing only the money is judiciously spent and the food properly prepared. Except in rare cases, the Italians certainly eat enough. Immediately following this statement will be found brief dietaries of Italian workmen at hard labor. The fact that the quantities are not generally given does not seem to render them valueless, for the reasons just given.

In connection with the first of the three points mentioned above, viz, the bearing of the food upon the capacity for labor, it must be remembered that the condition of the Italian laborer in this country, and particularly during the last two or three years, is peculiar. Having only the most unskilled labor to offer, he is the first to be thrown out of employment during seasons of industrial depression. The result has been that in the city of Chicago during the past two years the Italian has worked on an average but little more than four months out of the twelve. The other eight months were spent in idleness and almost absolute inactivity in poorly ventilated rooms. During these months the laborer, helpless because of his ignorance of the English language, hardly ventures farther than the nearest saloon. The food to which he has been accustomed in his native land and to which he clings is peculiarly ill adapted for this inactive period. In theory these eight months of idleness should be a preparation for the season of hard work. The man having little outdoor life and no immediate necessity for exertion has no need for large amounts of starches and fats, but he has the greatest need for the proteids or nitrogenous substances which create muscle and give powers of endurance. The food of the Italian fails to meet this requirement.

It must be mentioned, first, that the large expenditure for beer, which takes the place in this country of the light wines of Italy, seriously curtails the amount of money available for food. Were it not for this large outlay for beer, beef, which the Italian looks upon as a luxury, might be substituted more often for pork. Another thing to be noted is that the money available for food, after this unfortunately large sum has been deducted, is not expended in such a way as to accomplish the most good. Pork, with its large amount of fat and small amount of proteids, as compared with beef, is used much more than the latter. Lard is tried out in large quantities in the fall for use in winter, and enters into the preparation of almost every dish. The beef used is generally from the round. Wheat flour is used in very large quantities and is made into bread and macaroni. It is not uncommon for a family of five or six to use a barrel every six weeks. Oatmeal and other prepared cereals, whole wheat, graham and rye flours, are almost unknown. Beans, eggs, chickens, and cheese are the other more solid kinds of food. Green vegetables are used in very large quantities, but unfortunately are seldom obtained in fresh condition. With the exception of dandelion greens, which are cut by the Italians themselves, the vegetables reach them only after rejection from the better markets. Red peppers and tomatoes are in the greatest favor, and are dried for winter use. A paste, made by drying in the sun the pulp and juice of the tomato, is a characteristic Italian dish. Vegetables are used not as an accompaniment of meat, but as a substitute for it. It will be seen by reference to the dietaries that the Italian laborer frequently takes for his lunch only bread and peppers. The Italians use little butter and milk. Cases could be cited almost without number of these people who have 15 or 20 cents per day to spend for beer and only 3 cents for milk.

With reference to the methods of cooking, meats are generally fried. The Italian fries his round steak in lard, thus reducing it to its most indigestible and innutritious form. He might well take a lesson from his neighbor, the Russian Jew, who by long, slow cooking makes a most palatable, nutritious dish of his chuck beef, an even lower-priced cut of meat. Eggs, an excellent though not an economical food even when well prepared, are largely deprived of their food value by being fried hard in lard. They are usually mixed with potatoes before frying. Cabbage, peppers, and tomatoes are cooked in the same way with potatoes. Macaroni is boiled in water, covered with a sauce of lard flavored with onions, garlic, peppers, or parsley, and is served with cheese. Beans are boiled with potatoes and served with lard sauce or are used for salad.

The conclusion is that the amount of fat and starch taken in this diet is enough for a man at hardest labor and far in excess of the needs of an idle man, and that in the absence to so large an extent of beef, oatmeal, and other foods having large proportions of nitrogenous food principles, there is a deficiency of muscle-forming materials. Foods, such as eggs and beef, having the greatest value for giving strength of muscle and endurance, have their usefulness impaired by pernicious methods of cooking. In view of these facts it seems fair to infer that after a winter of inactivity, in bad air and on such a diet, the system of the Italian laborer is in such a debilitated condition as to make him entirely unprepared for the return of the working season. To this physical unfitness may be attributed his unwillingness to make any exertion to get work—a matter of surprise to his would-be benefactors who consider only his poverty and indebtedness, and not his physical condition.

As to the second point, the aversion to hospitals, there is no doubt that an Italian, taken from his food fried in lard, which attains and retains a much higher temperature than food cooked in milk or water, and which is highly spiced with peppers and highly flavored with garlic and onions, really suffers when the plain, nutritious, and well-prepared food of a hospital is set before him. We can learn more from the instinctive action of a little child than from the protests of scores of grown people. Italian children, when first taken to the hospitals, turn with disgust from such foods as bread and milk or milk toast. It is doubtless true that this change in diet is not only distasteful, but so radical as frequently to disorder the digestive system. Perhaps the treatment of an Italian during this period of change should be studied much as the treatment of an inebriate being won from his strong drink is studied. The sudden change certainly produces an abnormal physical condition. A little more attention to this subject by hospital authorities and a few harmless concessions to the taste of the Italians during the first few days of their stay in the hospital might result in their greater willingness to go to hospitals and in their greater tractableness while there. Many an Italian workingman, from pure aversion to American food, lies sick in his own home for months, while unhealthy surroundings and bad food conspire against his recovery, who might speedily return to health if taken to a hospital.

The third point, concerning the children, is of interest, because it bears upon the condition of the future workingman. A sick child may outgrow his diseases, but can hardly be expected to attain the greatest vigor of manhood. The great prevalence of rickets among Italian children may be seen by reference to the general tables. Rickets never proves fatal, but a child affected with this disease is especially subject to lung, bronchial, throat, and other troubles. The frequent acute troubles of the children, traceable to rickets, produce great drains upon the purse of the Italian laborer. The seeds of this disease are often sown before birth. A poorly nourished mother often nurses one child almost up to the time of the birth of her second child. The second child, weak at birth, is nursed until the mother's milk is entirely unfitted for the demands of its system. The weakness thus engendered is aggravated by giving the child the same unwholesome food that its parents eat, and in addition large quantities of fruit in a more or less decayed condition. Milk is used in very small quantities. The question, Do you give your children milk? is usually answered in the affirmative by the Italian mother, but further inquiry usually brings out the information that she buys only about 3 cents' worth per day and gives it to the children in form of "milk and tea" or "milk and coffee." Beer is given to the very youngest children. Oatmeal and other prepared cereals, whole wheat and graham flours, with their wealth of mineral matters for the formation of bone, are as unfamiliar to the child as to the father, to whom, as previously stated, they are an unknown food. The food of the Italian, therefore, with its insufficiency of proteids and its excess of the most indigestible of fats, has an added fault, when considered as a diet for children, because of the exclusion to so large an extent of milk, oatmeal, and other foods rich in mineral matters.

DIETARIES OF ITALIAN LABORING MEN.

[Time, August, 1896. Sunday bills of fare not taken.]

No. 1. Age, 29; married; sewer digger. Breakfast and lunch: One pound round steak (beef), three times per week, one-half for breakfast and one-half for lunch; red peppers instead of the round steak, three times per week; every morning 5 cents' worth of beer; bread with all these meals. Supper: Macaroni and beans, or round steak fried with potatoes; always bread and 5 cents' worth of beer.

No. 2. Age, 19; single; sewer digger. Breakfast and lunch: One pound round steak, three times per week; peppers, three times per week; always bread and 5 cents' worth of beer. Supper: Fried potatoes and eggs, or boiled potatoes and macaroni; bread and 5 cents' worth of beer.

No. 3. Age, 35; married; sewer digger. Breakfast and lunch: One pound round steak; bread; 5 cents' worth of beer for lunch. Supper: Round steak fried with potatoes; macaroni and beans; potatoes and peppers fried together.

Nos. 4, 5, 6, 7. Day laborers. Food for each, breakfast and lunch: Five cents' worth of summer sausage; 1 pound bread. Supper: Three boiled eggs or head cheese; bread.

No. 8. Age, 29; single; sewer digger. Breakfast and lunch: Coffee, bread, 10 cents' worth of beer; pork chops, four times per week; fried eggs, twice a week. Supper: Beef fried with potatoes, or peppers fried with potatoes, or macaroni; bread and 5 cents' worth of beer.

No. 9. Age, 31; single; sewer digger. Breakfast and lunch: Bread; 10 cents' worth of beer; fried eggs, or potatoes fried with peppers or cheese. Supper: Macaroni with beans, or peppers fried with potatoes or sausage; bread; 5 cents' worth of beer.

No. 10. Age, 33; single; sewer digger. Breakfast: Coffee or tea and bread. Lunch: Five cents' worth of beer; bread; pork chops twice a week; other days fried eggs, ham, sausage, peppers, or cheese (always beer and bread, with choice of the other articles named). Supper: Potatoes fried with eggs, or sausage fried with peppers.

No. 11. Age, 34; single; sewer digger. Breakfast and lunch: Five cents' worth of pork chops; 15 cents' worth of beer; bread. Supper: Macaroni and beefsteak, or peppers fried with potatoes, or cabbage fried with potatoes, or beans and macaroni; bread and 5 cents' worth of beer.

No. 12. Age, 21; single; day laborer. Breakfast: One pound round steak, fried, three times per week; peppers, three times per week. Supper: Macaroni only, four times per week; fried potatoes with peppers, twice a week; beer unknown.

No. 13. Age, 24; single; day laborer. Breakfast and lunch: One pound pork chops every morning, one-half for breakfast and one-half for lunch; peppers three times per week; bread and 5 cents' worth of beer daily. Supper: Macaroni and beans, or peppers and potatoes, or beef and potatoes (beef three times per week); 5 cents' worth of beer.

No. 14. Age, 23; single. Eats no breakfast. Lunch: Ham or sausage with bread and peppers. Supper: Occasionally, round steak; usually, macaroni only, or potatoes and cabbage; beer unknown.

Inquiry was made as to the actual cost of food and milk among these people, and replies were secured as to food from 742 families, embracing 3,711 persons, while 782 families, embracing 3,914 individuals, reported as to the cost of milk. The result of this inquiry is embodied in the table which follows:

COST OF FOOD AND MILK, BY SIZE OF FAMILY.

Size of family.	Cost of food per week.		Cost of milk per day.
	Per family.	Per individual.	Per family.	Per individual.

13 persons	17.87 $\frac{1}{2}$	1.37 $\frac{1}{2}$.045	.003
Average	4.11	.82	.027	.005

In this table is shown the cost of food per week and the cost of milk per day, according to the size of the family. These costs are given for the family and for the individual. In families of one person the average cost of food per week was \$1.88 $\frac{1}{2}$ and the average cost of milk per day about one-third of a cent. In families of two persons the average cost of food per week per family was \$2.65 $\frac{1}{2}$ and per individual \$1.33; the cost of milk per day in these families was 1.7 cents per family, or less than 1 cent per individual. The cost of food and of milk per family naturally increases as the size of family increases, while the cost per individual decreases. The average cost of food per week per individual for the 3,711 individuals in the 742 families reporting as to the cost of food was 82 cents; the average cost of milk per day per individual for the 3,914 individuals in the 782 families reporting as to cost of milk was one-half of 1 cent. The average cost of milk per day for each family reporting was 2.7 cents. Reports were secured from 726 families as to the amounts expended for beer per day. Of this number of families 533, or 73.42 per cent, reported that they used beer and that the average cost of beer per day per family was 11.1 cents. The average cost of milk per day per family was, as just stated, but 2.7 cents.

In answer to the inquiry, Do you give your children milk? 573, or 82.09 per cent, of the 698 families reporting answered in the affirmative. In answer to the inquiry, Do you give your children beer? 498, or 71.65 per cent, of the 695 families reporting answered in the affirmative. The inquiry as to whether or not these families ate beefsteak was answered in the affirmative in 858, or 89.84 per cent, of the 955 families reporting as to this fact.

PADRONE SYSTEM.

The inquiry, Do you work for a padrone? was asked of 1,860 persons connected with these families, and 403, or 21.67 per cent, answered in the affirmative. Of this number 24, or 5.96 per cent, reported that they paid no commission to the padrone for securing the job, while 379, or 94.04 per cent, reported that they paid a commission. It was not found possible to ascertain the amount of commission paid by each of these 379 persons, but quite a large proportion of them were able to report the exact amount of commission paid for their last job and the length of time said job lasted. An aggregate of $1,650.50 was paid to padrones by the 341 persons reporting, or an average of $4.84 per individual, for the last job at which they worked, and the aggregate time worked on these jobs was 3,958½ weeks, or an average of 11 weeks and 4 days per individual. The average amount paid per week to padrones for employment at the last job at which the 341 persons worked, as shown by these figures, was 42 cents each. This commission to padrones is a matter of no small moment to the workmen when the very low wages at which they work is taken into consideration. This investigation has not shown that any large proportion of the workmen were fed by the padrones, but it is known that in many cases where they were taken out of the city to work they were compelled to purchase the whole or part of their food from the padrones. A number of reports were secured from workmen who were taken out of the city to work and a comparison made between the prices paid for the food which the workmen were compelled to purchase from the padrones and Chicago market prices. The following table shows the results of these reports:

The prices are given in this table, by each workman reporting, for such articles of food as were for sale by the padrones. The quality of the food for sale by the padrones was frequently reported as good, although in the majority of cases it was reported as of unknown or of bad quality. In each instance the prices of articles of food sold by the padrones are compared with Chicago prices for the same quality of food. Reports were secured from 21 workmen. Of this number 15 stated that they were compelled to purchase from the padrones such food as they kept for sale; 2 reported that they were practically compelled to patronize the padrones because they had no money to purchase elsewhere; 2 reported themselves helpless to do otherwise because of their distance from any other place where food could be purchased, while 1 did not report, and 1 reported that he was not compelled to patronize the padrones. All of these workmen were taken from the city to work on railroads, probably at track repairing or construction.

As will be seen from this table, the prices charged by padrones are frequently double those charged in Chicago markets for similar articles of food of the same quality. Considering each article embraced in the table, and all combined, it is seen that the padrone's prices show an average increase over Chicago prices as follows: For bread, 82.19 per cent; for macaroni by the pound, 61.11 per cent; for macaroni by the box, 50.33 per cent; for cheese, 46.02 per cent; for sausage, 72.40 per cent; for bacon, 67.91 per cent; for lard, 77.04 per cent; for sugar, 44.58 per cent; for coffee, 74.70 per cent; for tea, 80 per cent; for beans, 61.70 per cent; for tomatoes, 65.38 per cent; and for all articles of food combined, 59.55 per cent.
